Historia Mathematica is concerned with the history of all aspects of the mathematical sciences in all parts of the world and from all historical periods. The journal includes occasional biographies of mathematicians and historians, articles on organizations and institutions, essays on historiography, and the interactions between all facets of mathematical activity and other aspects of culture and society.

In addition to original research, Historia Mathematica includes the following departments: Notes, Sources, Meetings-Announcements, Meetings-Reports, Projects, Reviews, Abstracts, and Letters to the Editor.
